Top: Even the bus drivers had first day jitters as they forgot to turn off their lights, or was it just too early to be in school?

TIME FOR A CHANGE

The 1986-87 school year has been a year with a great amount of changes at Live Oak. This is the first time the seventh period day has actually been put into effect. This idea was proposed several years ago, but was not put into actual use until now because of the numerous difficulties the Administration had to deal with.

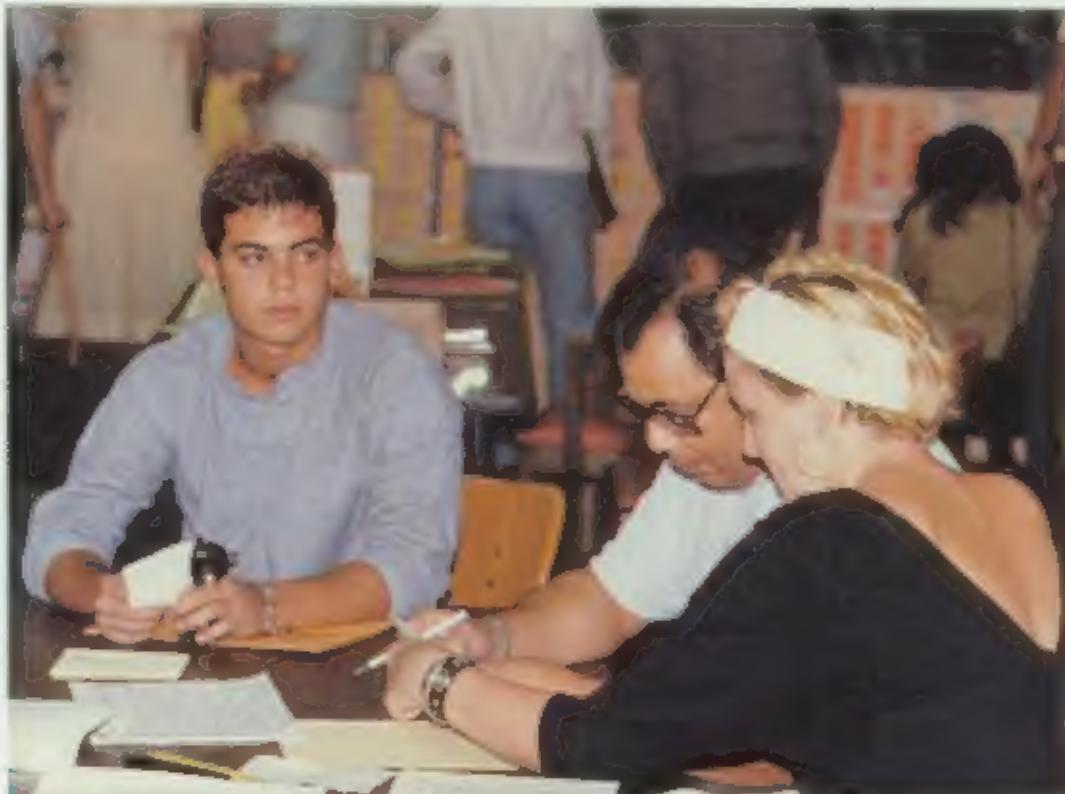

This extension means students will be getting up earlier to face an even longer day. With this change, students have become more involved in school activities to hinder themselves from boredom. Little did the students know that participating in school functions would help them forget the extended day and extra work they had.

In conjunction to the extra class, more teachers had to be hired. The seventh period allowed many students to take an elective class that they may not have had time for in the usual sixth period day. This new schedule has also given many students the opportunity to take the classes they need to graduate during school.

Live Oak has also seen great student participation in after school sports. Because of this extra class, many more students have time for sport activities. This year has recognized the largest turnouts for sports ever. This increase in student involvement has made the overall extra curricular program more successful.

Although initially most students did not want to be subjected to a longer school day, they have come to realize this change is for the better. Live Oak has benefited greatly from this new program. The students have become more involved in school spirit, sports, academic areas, and all other aspects of school. The entire student body along with the excellent administration, have accepted and adapted well to the new changes here at Live Oak.

Many students found that they had to amuse themselves while waiting for class changes during the first weeks of school. In this case, Rich Sigona patiently waits for Mr. Garcia to change his schedule and at the same time he inconspicuously checks out a blond beauty.

ALL IN A DAY

"BUZZZ . . ."

"5:45 already?" The thought of having to get up before the sun was agonizing. "I can't take one more day of this!" Michelle moaned. Her day was going to start with a civics test first period and she had been up until midnight studying for it. This was going to be a busy day, although all her days usually were. Today was also the S.A.T. testing day and she would have to miss second through fourth periods. While Michelle was getting ready for school she was trying to figure out how she would balance all the things she had to do.

"Let's see, after civics I need to find out where to take the S.A.T., and then . . ."

"Who are you talking to Michelle?"

"Oh, hi mom, I'm just planning out my schedule for the day."

"Do you have a lot to do today?"

"I sure do, I'm swamped all day."

"Just don't push yourself too hard."

"But mom, I have to push myself to keep up. Three days a week I work from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. Four days a week I have field hockey and when we have games I miss seventh period. That adds even more homework. I can't believe they added a seventh period. They want us to be adults and learn responsibility but they don't give us any time to do it."

"I don't know why they added a seventh period, but since they did, maybe you should give up going to hospital once a week. That would give you at least three hours a week more for other things."

"But mom, volunteering is the one thing I want to really use my time for."

"Well, okay, if you think you can handle everything then go ahead. Oh, I almost forgot, I need you to watch your brother tonight. Your father and I are going out."

"Mom, I have an essay due tomorrow and a lot of homework because of the classes I'm going to miss today."

"Well, your brother will probably be sleeping anyway, so just make sure you're home tonight, okay?"

"Alright, I won't have time to go anywhere anyway. Oh, what time is it?"

"It's 7:10."

"I guess I'll see you tomorrow morning, right mom?"

"Something like that. Try to make the best of it."

"I will definitely try."

"By mom."

SUPPORTIVE ACTIONS

Throughout the year the students, staff and parents have shown an enormous increase in school spirit and support in all activities at Live Oak. Not only was there more support to athletes at their games, but to the attendance in class as well.

There have been many improvements this year, compared to the past, in the way that more students turned out for sporting events, out winning teams, great coaching, and most of all more pride and spirit than ever before. The students were involved and showed that they are proud to be "Live Oak Acorns". The rallies have been brought up to a new high and some of the largest sophomore, junior, and senior turnouts were seen this year.

Although the students have shown their enthusiasm by attending the rallies in large groups, they have also displayed their spirit by dressing up for class distinction days. This year, more students than ever have participated in school activities.

It is obvious that our pride shows in our attitudes, on our faces, and in our hearts that we support our acorns in all ways possible. It is our time to shine - and we will continue to shine for a long time.

Two Seniors, Andy Lavelle and Jeff Reisig are already prepared for a summer trip. These two are very anxious to get back to their home land of Jamaica after graduation in June.

Students have proven their spirit and dedication to the school in the 1986-87 school year by overfilling the gymnasium to help cheer on their rowdy class and the excellent undefeated football team.

WE CHARMING SENIORS

By Jennifer K. and Karen Culp of the Class of '87

The graduating class of '87 has achieved memorable feats throughout the school year by displaying outstanding qualities and characteristics which contributed great style to Live Oak High School. The tremendous task of promoting school spirit and loyalty began in the days of Sophomore life, and continued through Junior achievement.

Now, with three wonderful years behind us, the Senior Class struts a reputation as being superior to all Acorns. Spirit Week awarded the Senior Class as Rank #1 and proved to the student body their inexhaustible energy and enthusiasm. Many temptations presented detours, however, Seniors '87 everywhere kept right on track. Our football team completed the season with victory and an all-time demonstration of superb athletic ability.

Known as "the class with style," Acorns '87 began the academic year with chauffeur-driven limousines delivering several beauties to the Live Oak campus. In addition to beauty, we also have brains. Many of the graduating seniors were faced with life-time decisions concerning careers and college. Applications for Admissions to Universities and Colleges were coupled with Scholarship Requirements, and, of course, the inevitable high grade point average necessary to achieve our goals. As future leaders of tomorrow, counselling and intensive thought were dedicated to the graduating process. Homework seemed never to end. School dances seemed to come and go so quickly. Senior portraits were difficult to select and our teachers seemed to enjoy our continual striving towards graduation.

Our togetherness proved that team effort can afford success. We shall live by this philosophy in the years ahead to provide our community and society with mature adults. Live Oak Acorns '87 forever. The class with class!

CARS AND CLASS CREATE CLOUD

Throughout the school year our graduating class of '87 definitely succeeded in displaying our outstanding qualities as seniors. From our first year in high school we struggled through the days of 'sophomore stupidity', gone are the days of 'junior jealousy', and finally we reached the top- 'senior superiority'. We participated in a variety of activities from rallies to grad night showing our spirit. No matter what the occasion (to help, have fun or get down to business) we were involved.

Our class showed everyone that we had spirit. We had a dynamite year filled with fun and laughter, along with work. Introducing that pride began the first day back to school. Fifty-four seniors met down at school at 6:00 a.m. and were chauffeured by nine limousines to McDonald's for breakfast. After breakfast we arrived to school in front of the student body showing our pep beginning the new year. The administration and other students were stunned by our entrance.

October rolled around and we were bombarded. Homecoming was on its way and it was time to make decisions. "What college do I apply to?" "Do they offer athletic scholarships?" "How far away from home is it?" After being stricken with writer's cramp we thought we would never recover. But wait, just when we started to relax, counselors swamped us with scholarships and applications. Questions such as "What is your ambition in life?", is etched in our minds forever.

Living for now, we took each day one at a time. Walking in as sophomores and leaving as seniors we were united all of the time. We realize how many hours we put into Live Oak, the time spent on homework, at rallies, football and basketball games, and dances. We did all of this together. We were and will always be 'the class with class '87'.

"Pictures already?"

When we were let out of school last June, the farthest thing from our minds was the idea of preparing for our senior year. We were just glad summer had finally arrived and we had made it through the "toughest" year of high school. All we wanted to do was forget the books and enjoy the thought of not having to go back to school for another two and a half months. By a week into vacation, all thoughts of school were put aside and we concentrated on having a long, relaxing vacation. When the novelty of sleeping in had passed by we got into a summer rut

Then August was suddenly here. Most of us were surprised when we received a notice from Sanford and Meyer. The letter informed us of our appointment date to have our portraits taken. Having our senior portraits taken was to many of us the first indication of being an actual senior. We started to realize that soon we would be back in school, but that this year would be different. This year we would be the leaders, the oldest, and the most respected. All the Juniors and Sophomores would wish they were us and we would love it. Senior portraits were very important to us. They were the first sign that we were actually nearing the time when we would be graduating from Live Oak High School. We started to realize the many responsibilities we would be facing and began to mentally prepare ourselves for our final year at Live Oak.

“What, no history?”

In August, when we took our senior pictures, we began to realize all the new responsibilities and challenges we would be facing. Before we knew it we were back at Live Oak for the first day of school. Not yet sure if we were ready to attack our first year as seniors or the new seventh period day we tried to keep our spirits up. We just wanted the first days to go smoothly. After we got through the first few hours we began to calm down and realize that nothing had really changed. Most of the same teachers were there, the school hadn't changed, we had just become seniors. The strangest part of going back to school was the new classes we now had to pass in order to graduate.

Although we had new classes to deal with we also had an extra period. We could use this for an elective or any other course we needed to take to satisfy the graduation requirements which were raised after our freshman year. Many of us had been trying to set our schedules straight since our sophomore year but couldn't because we did not have enough classes.

While looking at our new schedules we realized that the usual history class was not present. We had been studying this subject since the fifth grade and it was being replaced by civics and economics which most of us knew nothing about. These two classes were probably the hardest and our scariest because through both courses we had the pressure of knowing that if we did not pass them, we did not graduate.

"I'm short two credits?"

A few weeks into school we began to settle down and our fears of not passing the required courses started to fade. Many of us were sure that as long as we kept up in school we would last through the year and come out on top. We got into a daily routine and time started to fly by. Before we knew it we were already a month into school. In mid October we received passes to go to the library or the little theater. Our teachers informed us that these passes were for senior check. Besides getting us out of class, we weren't overly excited about this event. We never heard much about the senior check so most of us did not think it was very important. When we arrived to our designated spots we were met by our counselors who had our full high school histories in front of them. They wanted us to dig deep down into our minds to actually remember what classes we took in seventh grade. They also had contracts that laid out exactly how many credits we had and how many we needed to graduate in June. The senior check was basically our last chance to change our schedules to make sure we had the right classes.

By the time we finished the check the word requirements would best be forgotten. Once we had signed our individual contract we had the feeling that there was no turning back. We had finalized our schedules. The senior check was when most of us realized that graduation from Live Oak was not a far away dream, but was actually within reach.

“Deadlines make me crazy!”

Through our entire senior year we got the feeling that soon after we meet one obligation we were required to meet another. In this case, as soon as we finished senior check, the time to take the SAT, and apply to colleges was upon us. Suddenly we had what seemed like a hundred deadlines to meet. The time seemed to fly by and then everything was due in two weeks.

Along with all the applications that were due we also had to be concerned with saving money. A lot of us may be paying a portion of our college entry fees or part of room and board costs. For many of us, our senior year was the first time working became an important part of our lives. The jobs we had were to get money for college instead of extra cash for buying clothes or going out on the weekends. Many of us began to realize that our senior year, not our junior year, would actually be the hardest year of high school for us. We had to be careful to keep up in school along with carefully planning for our futures. Decisions such as what colleges we would apply to and proportioning our time between school and work would have long term effects on us.

During our senior year we made some of the most important decisions of our lives.

Whether we were going to continue in school or not was one of those decisions. Our class can be very proud because we have one of the highest percent of graduates. There also is a very higher majority of us continuing in higher education. We know that the success of our class will never be forgotten at Live Oak.

"We've waited so long!"

As seniors of the class of 1987, we were given many new responsibilities. There were also a lot of changes. Many of us became legal adults, and began planning for our futures. A lot of us also began preparing to leave home; college bound. In our last year of High School we attended many special activities and events. We also acquired great responsibilities that helped to prepare us for the one day of the year that means the most to us us Graduation!

Graduation was an incentive for us to complete our work throughout the year as we came upon it. While struggling through term papers, essays, and projects the thought of graduation was what seemed to pull us through the year. When teachers lectured, scolded, or praised us it was always for "our own good". On top of that, all of the hours of homework, research papers, tests, senior check, counseling appointments, C.A.P. testing, and, of course, final exams lead up to the moment we received our High School Diploma; that was the goal. Standing on the football field with memories of the year behind gave us a sense of achievement. The restriction of commitment was lifted from our shoulders. All of the burden was gone and we suddenly had a great sense of freedom. It was a kind of liberty in which we had longed to become a part of. The recognizable goal reached by graduation somehow remains a mystery in life in the years to follow.

We'll never forget... "

The time spent at Live Oak and all that the school gave to us as seniors was put forth not only for our graduation, but for our futures as well. In the beginning of our senior year most of us were unstable and a little scared. There were so many responsibilities that we never had to face before. This was the first time any of us actually wished we were younger again so that we could forget all the obligations and just go outside and play. Although we wished to be rid of all the pressures, unknowingly they made us stronger people. During our last year of high school we began to become our own persons. We realized that we don't have to be just like our friends and that there is our very own personality inside of us. All the responsibilities we faced have given us a good start in becoming successful people.

Now that we are almost adults, we look back and realize how important our senior year will always be to us. We will always remember our first rally as seniors and the grand entrance that we made. Football games, basketball games, and all other athletic events will always remind us of how successful school was and the fun we had with our friends. The most obvious memories that we will never forget are of the prom and grad night. Those two evenings have left long lasting impressions upon us. Our senior year of high school has definitely contributed more to our lives than all of the rest combined. The friends we made and the memories we acquired will stay with us forever.

Junior Year-remember the first time you looked down at a sophomore and scornfully half teasingly said "You're just a pup?" Remember the first time you sat in the Junior Section with the seniors to your right and you felt control? Not arrogant seniority and not the confusion that comes with a sophomore's first spirit rally but control. That's the junior experience. Goals start coming into focus, college wheels start turning. Junior year is the turning point for most individuals. No longer lost, juniors are the epitome of organized chaos. They signed up for SAT tests, paid fees, remembered test dates, studied for college prep tests on weekends, spent Saturdays taking them. They made money on the Sadie Hawkins dance and spent it on the Prom. Most of them went to work, practiced a sport, watched the games on Fridays, attended the dances and still managed to slide in the front door two minutes before curfew. Besides taking five to seven academic classes (to save electives for senior year), the junior workload increased as college requirements increased. More writing, more comprehensive testing, less slack. Many juniors spent their entire year in anticipation of senior year (sounds familiar doesn't it seniors never taking a well deserved rest and a pat on the back for all the hard work that they put into their junior year). Well, congratulations juniors! You made it to Senior Year.

SOPHOMORES

Sophomores the class of 1989 Unity is the word that comes to mind when Live Oak's sophomores are mentioned. Unity, direction, control. We have seen these words defined again and again by the 1986-87 sophomore class. As junior class president Li Uchachba said "I was surprised and impressed by how quickly the two junior high schools assimilated." Debbie Avila, the sophomore class president remembers the confusion she, as well as the whole sophomore class felt at their first 'High school' rally. "A lot of my classmates felt as if they were being dogged for being something they couldn't help. But by the end of the first rally we realized that the upperclassmen were laughing with us not at us. And we just had to laugh back!" And laugh they did. The sophomore class had their day when football homecoming roled around. As many sophomores remember it looked as if there would not be a sophomore class float in the parade. They got working on their float just two weeks before homecoming night. The junior high kids from both Britton and Murphy put aside their differences became the United sophomore class of Live Oak High and got to work on their posters and their float. The result of this last minute effort was very impressive. As were the sophomore class shirts. At $6.00 a pop, the full color master pieces designed by Matt Arnold were a work of art. They were the pride of Matt and the entire sophomore class. A class of which deserves the respect of all the upperclassmen.

Another aspect of the sophomore class was their ready acceptance of the seventh period day. Nothing seemed to phase this class of achievers. Most sophomores took the extra stride as they adjusted to high school life. And while the class of '89 appreciated the smoking section its loss was well taken at the end of their first semester. The administration especially appreciated the Stoic attitude of the sophomore class as they dealt with opposition to these changes in Live Oak Policy and curriculum.

A TIME FOR SOMETHING NEW

The 1986-87 faculty staff experienced a change in their schedule this year compared to the previous years. The main factor of this change was the addition of the seventh period to the traditional six period day. Last year the Board of Education felt that currently enrolled Live Oak students and incoming junior high students needed an additional class in order to complete the courses necessary for graduation. The Board knew that this change may be difficult at first for the staff, but in the long run, the benefits would be overwhelming.

Changing the schedule presented a new problem to Dr. Giespie. She had to interview teachers to fill the twenty three new job positions. Live Oak now has 107 teachers employed, which is the largest single increase since 1975.

These new teachers are Tamara Baley, Kathy Brenneman, Mark Cummins, Mac Haines, Mary Hammerman, Deborah Imerson, Bruce Jacobs, Bi Maruna, Carol McElroy, Vera Otto, Ken Repp, Linda Sendearas, Susan Carlson, Lacey Wooten-Kraus, and Mark Sealand. Also included are seven transfers from the junior high schools: Ron Griswold, Victor Leija, Dave Leveroni, Joan Maser, Hans Schact, Steve Spencer, and Charlene Trottier.

An important aspect of the seven-period day was the Board's decision to add the Staff Development period, a separate class period to be used to increase and enhance teaching at Live Oak. Each faculty member has a separate class outside their daily schedule that is set aside for individual improvement on their critical thinking, mastery teaching, or cooperative learning.

An informational picket was begun because of the lack of an official contract. This was when the subject of the seven-period day became more than just an idea. The possibility of this change was now going to become a reality. Here Mr. Todd demonstrates his frustrations with the Board of Education.

WE PROUDLY DEDICATE THE 1986-87 LA ENCINA TO . . .

THE LIVE OAK CLASSIFIED STAFF

The 1986-87 La Encina yearbook staff decided, unanimously, to dedicate this year's yearbook to the Classified Staff. These people have put a tremendous amount of hard work into Live Oak to make it the best possible high school it can be. Without the efforts of the Classified Staff, Live Oak would not be able to run properly. With all the new changes that have gone on this year (new tardy policy, attendance system, seventh period day, etc.) the Classified Staff has worked their hardest to keep their sections running the best way possible under the circumstances. They have all been the backbone of this school and deserve recognition and much appreciation.

The following are the members of the Classified Staff: CLERICAL- Patti Banfill, JoAnn Blomquist, Joan Brown, Bonnie Cherry, Ann Cerniglia, Rosie Flores, Adelaide Franco, Bev. Gaither, Dotie Latham, Paula Macias, Judy Macintosh, Carmen Mintzas, Betty Pipkin, Willene Rhodes. CUSTODIANS- Joe Collings, Jack Cotta, Jesse Estrada, Wes Horan, Freeman Perreira, Ray

The Classified Staff members work harder than probably anyone else at Live Oak. They have the responsibility of keeping Live Oak running smoothly. The areas these people work in are counseling, attendance, maintenance, running the career center, library, food service, yard duty, running the front office, A.S.B nursing, and independant studies. We have taken these people for granted and our staff feels their recognition has been long overdue. The La Encina wishes a very sincere thank you to the Classified Staff at Live Oak High School.

LEADERS OF THE PACK

Just what is it that makes the people on this page so special? That's right, they're the senior officers of 1987.

Leading the senior class were President, Scott Belveal, Vice President, Heather Jennison; Secretary, Trelawney McClain Treasurer, Michele Stark, Social Chairpersons, Andy LaVelie & Windy Howell; Sgt at Arms Mark Ysitis & Danielle Lewis.

The Senior Class officers of 1987 sponsored one of Live Oak's most successful Christmas Balls. They showed outstanding conduct and spirit at the Homecomings. Along with the Limo service at the beginning of the year, and the first overnight Grad Nite trip ever, they lead the senior class with great pride.

A CLUB CAN BE THE TIME OF YOUR LIFE

Live Oak's clubs play an important role in any student's high school life style. There are approximately thirty-five clubs that are presently active on Live Oak's campus. This year to get the clubs in action, Live Oak had a day dedicated to them. It was called Club Day. This gave everyone a chance to get their spirits and interests going.

Clubs can play a very effective part in every student's life. Acorn students who take the opportunity to participate in their favorite clubs end up benefitting greatly. Being involved in clubs gives a person the chance to meet new people with similar interests, to share in exciting experiences, and to gain new knowledge.

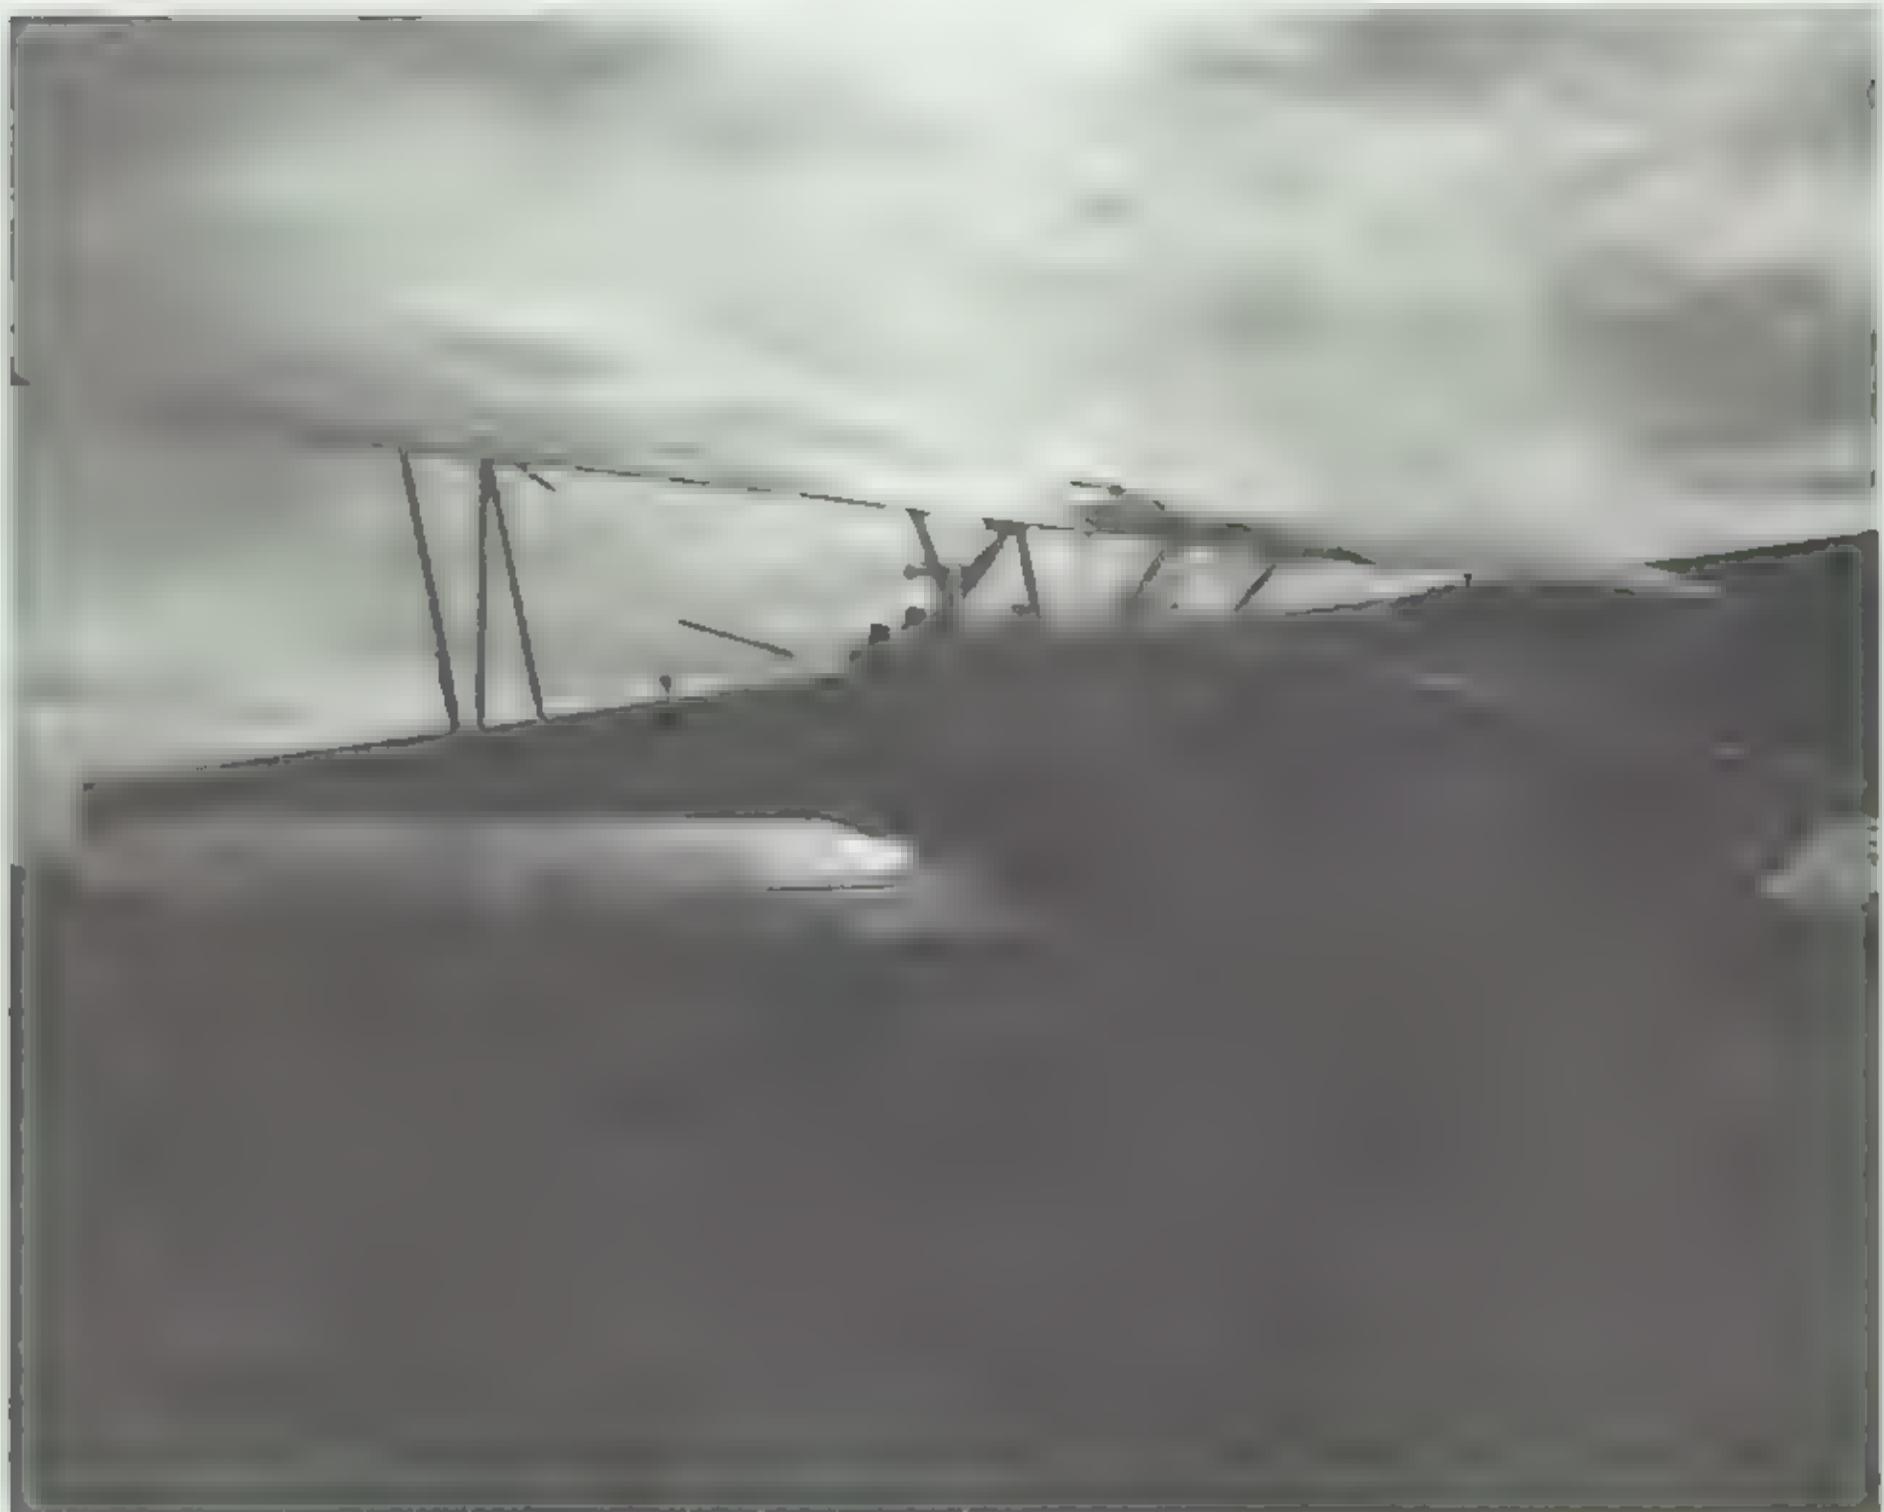

This year Live Oak High School re-introduced the inner club council. ASB President Larry Carr is the one responsible for organizing this new edition. Each club picks representatives to meet with other club's representatives. The idea behind this council is to open communication among clubs and organizations.

Among the older more established clubs and organizations on Live Oak's campus are F.B.A., FFA, C.S.F., ASB, and co-curricular organizations like Oak Leaf, La Encina, Speech and Debate, and Emerald Regime. Among the newer organizations to join the host of extra-curricular organizations are Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD), Key Club, and Surf Club.

Clubs have been an important part of students' lives since Live Oak was first established. However, the addition of these new clubs show how the interest of our students have changed over the years.

This year's clubs have been a great success and also an asset to Live Oak students. The La Encina staff hopes that each member of these different clubs will remember all of their most enjoyable moments from the 1986-87 school year.

I am this the BEST?

Clubs have played a very important role in student involvement at school. Membership in clubs give the students a feeling of belonging and being a part of the student body.

At lunch on October 30, all clubs participated in displaying information about their club. The students of Live Oak had the opportunity to learn to shop, and to join their favorite club(s).

For the clubs, it was a way to advertise their organization and compete for members. The booths were decorated to attract attention, and club members participated in convincing others to join.

The students were entertained with music while wandering from booth to booth. Club Day proved to be an informative and fun-filled event for everyone.

The Key Club was introduced three years ago by Mr. Jack Todd. It is a student service organization whose parent is Kiwanis International.

The Kiwanis is a worldwide service organization, whose members desire to become personally involved in improving the quality of their communities. All of the events that the Key Club participates in revolve around service to the club's community or to their school. Their theme for the past year was to visit local rest homes regularly in order to give the elderly any needed assistance.

The Club held several fund raisers throughout the 86-87 school year. They were in charge of running the concession stands at all football games, candy sales, and organizing a booth at the Mushroom Mardi Gras.

Mr. Todd would like to give a special thanks to all the Key Club members who took part in all the projects.

TIME TO DEBATE . . .

The progress of Speech and Debate has been on going for 11 years. Mr. Robert Bick was the teacher who first started it. Now Mrs. Linda Cowan accompanies him in running the club. Mrs. Cowan is the speech coach and Mr. Bick handles the Debate issues.

The purpose of Speech and Debate is to make students comfortable with public speaking. The club gives these interested students an opportunity to perform in several speaking events.

This year is the first year the Oxford Debate beat Bellairene's best teams at Saratoga High School in November.

The students earned points by participating in speech competitions. These points enable the students to earn membership in the Honor Society.

Speech and Debate participates in several fund raisers. Some of these fund raisers included working at the football concession stands, candy sales, and working at the flea market.

Quote: "I think every student who wants to improve himself verbally and have fun at the same time should give Speech and Debate a try. There's nothing to fear, but fear itself."

In September 1986 the Academic Decathlon began in the classroom. Working in weeks committees were formed that covered every subject listed in the outline provided by the organizers of the Aca-Dec program. In October, the decathlon hopefuls prepared speeches and improvisational speeches. The team was announced and alternates were chosen. The studying picked up speed. Support was the key word as each committee of two or three people presented its material and gave support at tutoring during special study sessions. Last but not least, on the fateful day in November, the work finally paid off. Live Oak's Academic Decathlon took 4th place in the 1986 competition, up from 1985's 10th place. And as "Vechos the White man can attest — the celebration was on! The Academic Decathlon's night of awards was held in December where Live Oak walked away with more awards than any other school.

SCHOLARSHIP TIME . . .

This year's CSF (California Scholarship Federation) proved to be successful with the supervision of advisors, Diana Rocha and Georgia Schramm. There were some new beginnings and continuing traditions that were carried on. The Red Cross blood drive in April reminded volunteers that the purpose of CSF is community service. CSF, like always proved to be one of the largest clubs this year, and will grow more active in future years.

Keeping Time With Band

Live Oak's Emerald Regime is an outstanding marching band. The band won a majority of the fall competitions and placed second in the Marching Band of America (M.B.A.) in Oregon. Also, for the third year in a row, the Emerald Regime won the music bowl championships.

The Emerald Regime was picked out of 200-250 high school bands to go to China in the summer. Representatives from China came to review the band in 1986. The Emerald Regime paid $190,000 through various fund raising activities such as Bingo, March-a-thon, candy sales, and many more. There were some donations from local businesses. Live Oak Emerald Regime has been successful throughout the years and will continue to be.

IT'S TIME TO ACT . . .

The Live Oak Drama Guild is dedicated to the development of the performing arts. The students in this club are able to enhance their talents through the instruction of Mr C W Klipstine. The actors and actresses are taught how to bring the characters to life while on stage. Creativity, motivation and dedication are essential for success in this club.

In March, the Drama Club, including any interested student body, held a performance of the well-known musical, Oklahoma. This proved to be a huge success for the Drama Club and also new encouragement to continue this club at Live Oak for years to come.

This year the La Encina class consisted of about thirty students. They each were assigned to work on specific sections of the book. Through hours of hard work, wrinkled layouts, stressed moments, and quick approaching deadlines the staff managed to complete the 1986-87 yearbook, the finished product.

La Encina held a candy sale during the third quarter in order to make money to produce extra pages. These extra pages helped create the special quality of this years yearbook.

The members of the La Encina staff would like to give a special thanks to Mr. Aaron Spain for all of his time, patience and understanding in helping to complete the 1986-87 yearbook.

It's Time to Take Control...

ASB (Associated Student Body) has accomplished a great deal this year. They have been responsible for almost all of the activities that students will remember when they reminisce about their years at Live Oak High School. The students that are in the ASB class are elected by their fellow classmates.

Throughout the year, ASB, with the help of Mr. Green, has developed new traditions and new ideas to make Live Oak a better place to spend the dreaded extended day.

Carmen, the secretary of the ASB office, is the greatest asset to the function of Live Oak. Some ways that she has contributed to the school is through handling all money transactions that come into and out of the office. Live Oak High School is extremely lucky to have such great support!

Because of Carmen Villegas' love for dance, she initiated a club to enhance students' interest in the art. The dance taught, ranged from modern to classical. This variety gives students the opportunity to expand their knowledge in the world of dance.

The Dance Club performs in several places throughout the year. Some of these places include Castellero Jr. High, Martin Murphy, Gilroy, and Britton. They also made some special performances for the student body of Live Oak. The officers for this year's Dance Club were: President: Chelle Stark; Vice-President: Kathryn Richards; Secretary: Annette Shirley; Treasurer: Christie Scafani; Social Chairperson: Trina Tinzley.

This year's Italian Club was continued by Mrs. Sue Stanga. She first organized the club six years ago. The original purpose of the Italian Club is to promote the Italian language among any interested Live Oak students. Along with introducing the Italian language, the club gives the students an opportunity to raise money for possible scholarships. This proved to be very successful for them.

The Italian Club was involved in the Foreign Language Olympics, where they competed against peers from the Spanish and German Clubs. Mrs. Stanga would like to give a special thanks to Diane Hirschier, Michael Brown, and Beth Brown for all their extra help and support.

The members of the Italian Club can sum their club up by saying, "E' un piccolo club, ma e simpatico!"

Tiempo de Hablar Espanol . . .

Thanks to the Live Oak bilingual teachers that established the Bilingual Club many years ago, the bilingual students of Live Oak are now getting more involved in school activities. One activity that went well is the selling of discount cards from local merchants. They also sold candy, as a fundraiser to go on field trips such as The Exploratorium in San Francisco and visitation of colleges.

The Drama Club members would like to give thanks to the club officers who have given direction to the club. They would also like to give a special thanks to Mrs. Sendejas, the club's advisor, for giving up a lot of her time and giving a lot of advice to the club.

Thanks to Senora Matos, who established the Spanish Club many years ago, the Spanish Club has still been very active, since the first year.

The club was originally established to promote the Spanish culture and the Spanish language.

Once a month they had a meeting, to get the club more involved in school activities. Club members participated in the Intra-Club Olympiad held in the spring as well as selling candy, to raise money for the club.

Spanish Club members, this year are very thankful to Senora Morgan and Senora Trottier, for helping out the club, in all the activities they participated this year, and for giving them great advice, for the club.

TIME TO DRIVE SAFELY...

This years SADD program has been more effective then ever before. Students at Live Oak are finally realizing that drinking and driving don't mix. On behalf of the Live Oak student body we would like to thank Mr. Mike Hauser for making SADD an active club on our campus.

IT'S TIME TO BE CONCERNED . . .

SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk) was established by Mike Hauser two years ago. The purpose for which it was established is to help eliminate the drunk drivers and save lives, to alert high school students of the dangers of drinking and driving, to conduct community alcohol awareness programs, and to organize peer counseling programs to help students who may have concerns about alcohol.

This year's SADD program has been a success with about 60 members. Each year more and more students get involved. The club members for this year would like to give thanks to Mr. Hauser (their advisor), and club officers, who have worked very hard to make this school year a success.

SADD activities this year included an ice cream social, No Way day, a SADD dance, a SADD week with a variety of speakers during the week. Highlighted with a school assembly with Don Newcombe as our guest speaker.

One of their more effective ways to get the students' attention about the dangers of drunk driving was to bring a car that had been involved in an accident while someone had been drinking.

UNDEFEATED SPIRIT

Cheerleading is lots of hard work,
It's being part of the team,
It's having to accept responsibility,
And finding out what responsibility means
A cheerleader needs enthusiasm
And confidence in her ability,
Because she is leading the crowd
She is the symbol of vitality
A never-ceasing interest,
A love and a devotion,
A strong will to do for others —
These constitute a cheerleader's emotions
Cheerleading is an honor,
An honor meant to share
Regarded as a precious gift
To create spirit everywhere
A person with high standards,
An honor character too.
Someone who puts herself aside
And lives to support her school
Feeling tense and nervous,
Laughing and wanting to win,
Accepting the disappointment of defeat,
Learning to try once again.
Working for many hours,
Going through stiffness and aches,
Wondering if you can improve,
Realizing the work it takes.
Helping others to know the joy
Of working together as one,
Showing the importance of never giving up
Until a victory's been won
Being proud of the position you hold,
Caring about your team,
Facing a world full of opportunity,
That is what cheerleading means!

A TIME FOR CHAMPS . . .

The 1986 varsity football season was one that will never be forgotten. Through hard work and determination the team had an awesome 5-0 league record and captured the M.B.L. title.

Every individual contributed to the team in some aspect. The long hard practices which began in August, with two-a-days eventually payed off with a spectacular 11-1 record.

We all have many great memories of the 1986 football season. A few that stand out in many minds are 1. all senior starters, 2. the first team ever to go through pre-season with an unforgettable 9-0 record, 3. winning the M.B.L. title outright, 4. Dominic Bejarano receiving the most valuable player award in M.B.L. and 5. the dedication of both players and coaches.

There are other memories that have gone unsaid, but will be kept in our hearts forever. The 1986 varsity team record is one that we will always be proud of.

A WINNING SEASON

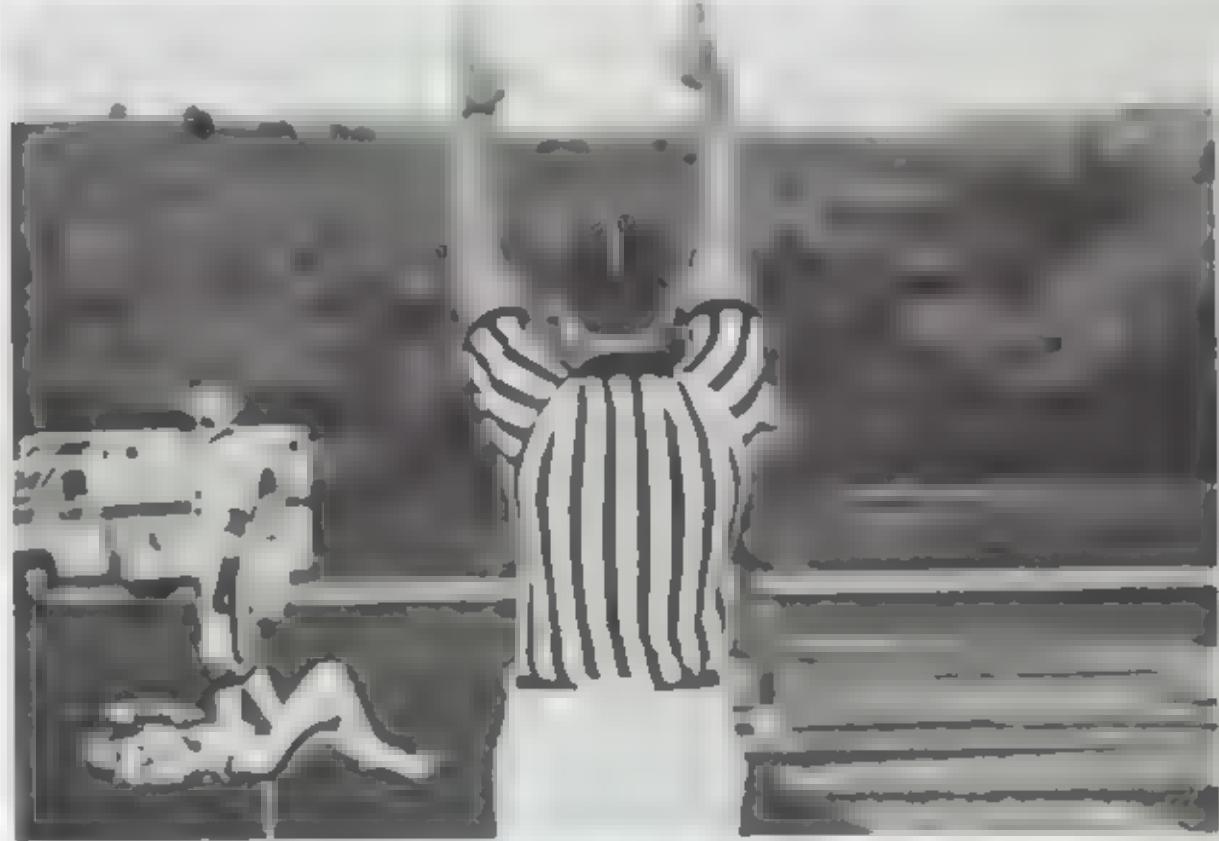

This year's J.V. team has proven to be outstanding — they are the first team in eleven years to bring the league title back to Live Oak. Our strong offense led by David Snapp and M.V.P. Kevin Sullivan backed with a powerful defense led our come-back team to glory. More than once Live Oak's Junior Varsity team pulled out of what seemed to be a certain loss surprising even the Live Oak fans into saying, "I knew they could do it!"

The 1986-87 J.V. team had a lot of talent that we look forward to seeing on next year's Varsity team after a long summer of practice, practice and more practice!

The high point of the Junior Varsity season had to be when Live Oak rolled over Seaside, bringing the J.V. team a well deserved victory. Many members of both the J.V. and Varsity teams will remember the awards banquet and ceremony long and well. A pot luck dinner in the gym followed by the awards presentation in the Little Theater compromised the seven hour ceremony.

This year's Varsity Water Polo team had an impressive year. With Mack Haines as the new coach and an all senior starting team, it's no wonder Live Oak Water Polo took second place in MBL and fifth place in CCS. They defeated Salinas for the title of MBL tournament champs and created the only major upset against Harbor taking the game into double overtime to capture fifth place in CCS. The first team MBL included Larry Carr, Neil McCowan and Jens Rasmussen. While second team honors were given to Andy LaVelle, Jeremy King and Scott Jackson. Team awards included Most Valuable Player Larry Carr, Team captain Andy LaVelle, Most Improved Player Jeremy King and Scholar Athlete Scott Jackson.

This year's girls' tennis team came out on top. With great players such as Trelawney McClain, Marcie Bracco, Kellie Jackson and Jennifer Brusaschetti, the girls had no problem winning their matches. The practices were long, but their hard work and dedication showed on the courts. Each young lady was a unique individual and contributed to the team. The 1986-87 Girls' Swimming and Diving Team did very well this season. The swimming team had a slow start, possibly due to a change of coaches, but as the season progressed the girls began to show the benefits of Ms. Shriver's coaching. A good team and a good coach can overcome a lot as Live Oak's swim team proved. The diving team, coached by Munoz, went all the way to CCS and did a great job in M8L as well. Dawn Huckins took third in M8L, and Tracie Durham pulled fourth. Overall, the diving team had an awesome season!

ON THE MOVE

The Varsity Field Hockey team had a disappointing year during the 1986 season. The team had outstanding athletes, with ten returning seniors and many strong juniors, but it just wasn't their year. They took fifth place in the league winning five games in the season. Most of the game scores were unbelievably close. The Varsity coach Carmen Villegas is looking forward to next year with three returning varsity players Donna Ditmore, Val Altimirano, Bonnie Saxe and four returning juniors.

The 1986-87 Junior Varsity Field Hockey team had a successful season this year. They won a majority of their games, taking third place in the league and winning ten out of fifteen games. It was a year of learning for most of the team. Many had never played any high school team sports. But with a lot of hard work and some acquired skill, the team pulled together to make their coach and themselves proud.

SETTING UP

The 1986-87 Varsity Volleyball team had an incredible year. After a summer of 3 hour a day practices and for some, volleyball camp, the Varsity team won a majority of their pre-season games. But by and incredible contrast, they lost every game in their season. The Varsity team was a beautiful example of a team that doesn't quit. They practiced daily, went into games with gusto, and continued to play because they enjoyed playing. These women are true jocks because they played sports for the joy of playing, not for the glory of crowds of cheering fans, but for the thrill of sports.

ON THE RIGHT TRACK

Track and field is not just a filler sport anymore. In the past people who needed an extra sport to letter chose track. But this year track and field has seen an increased dropout rate. Why? Practices are hard! The tough practices are weeding out those who are not serious about keeping up the Live Oak tradition of practice hard, play hard. From the results of the first track meet, it appears track and field is in for a successful season.

The Varsity Boys' basketball team had a challenging year. The season started out slowly with three losses. However, Live Oaks dedication and drive to succeed brought us close to the top. With one game between Live Oak and C.C.S. the boys went into Homecoming ready for a challenge. And a challenge is what they got. The boys were hard pressed to keep their tempers and direct their energies toward the game when the opposing team became rowdy and offensive. All in all, this game was a good indication of the team's year.

The Junior Varsity Basketball team had a good year. Their games were exciting and full of action. Each and every guy put all their efforts into games. The practices were long and hard but under the coaching of Mr. Nolan the team was able to pull through. The most memorable moment was when the team beat Seaside in the second round by 38 points. The team had lost previously to Seaside by 12 points.

HOOME COMING ROYALTY

Basketball Homecoming may have been disappointing for the team; however, it was exciting for the spectators. This year was the first year we saw miniature floats parading around the gym. The pre-game celebrations included floats, class competition, and the crowning of the Homecoming Court. Kellie McMahon was crowned as 1987 Homecoming Queen and was escorted by Rob Cates. Girls basketball homecoming celebrations included a replay of the floats, and the crowning of Don Hofer as Homecoming King who was escorted by Robyn Roark. While both the boys and girls lost their games, it wasn't without a fight — literally. All those who attended or participated in the boys' game will remember the ejection of Brett Paolucci and Shawn Clark.

SHOOT FOR THE STARS . . .

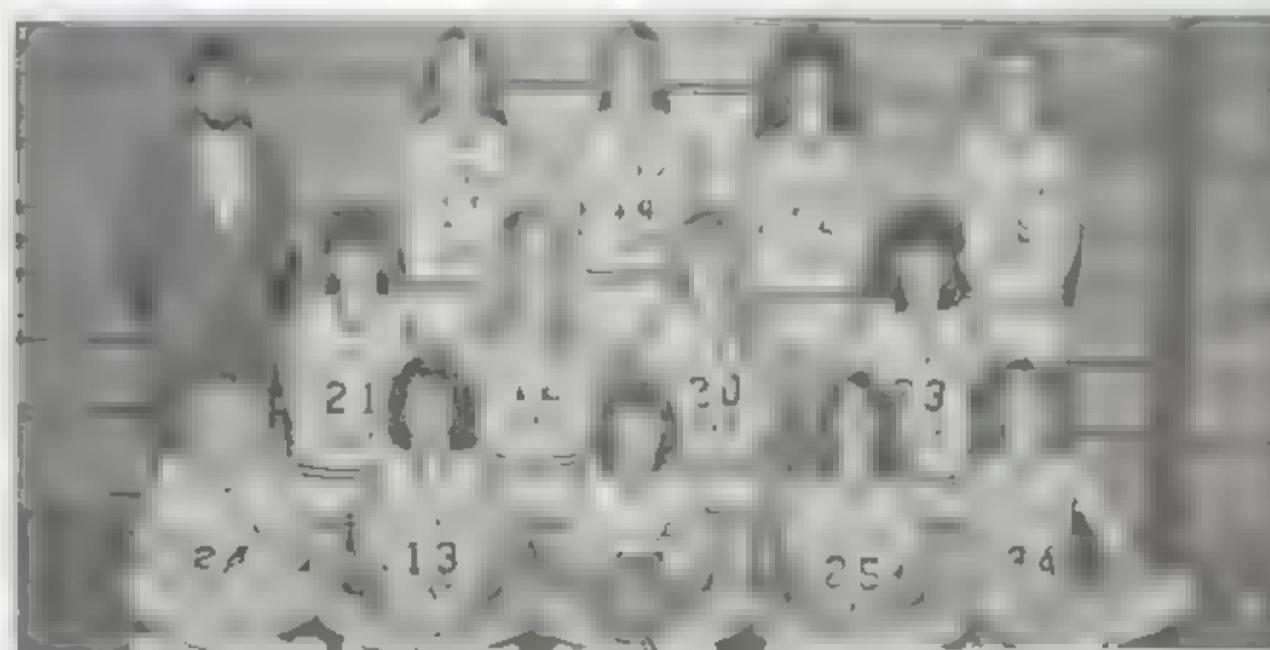

Despite predictions to the contrary, the Live Oak Girl's Basketball team had a great season. They won nearly every game in the first half of their season. Coach Castro did a superb job during the season, coaching the girls to more victories than they actually expected. Faced with the strange situation of having to lose to Gilroy in order to compete in CCS, the girls played through to CCS but unfortunately were played out of the tourney in the first round. All in all, it was a strange, successful, "some kind of wonderful" year.

The 1986-87 Junior Varsity girl's basketball team had a fairly average year. Under the coaching of newcomer Ms. Shriver, the girls spent a lot of time practicing, learning the game, and for some, handling the pressure of game situations. They won some, and lost some, like any new team will do, but it appears that Ms. Shriver has successfully started the ball rolling for another sterling Varsity team.

ONLY THE BEST... C.C.S.

Live Oaks Varsity Soccer team had its best season in the history of Live Oak soccer this year. Their 11-1 league record beats even last year's record of 10 wins, no losses, and two ties. Even with their impressive league record, the team found revenge sweetest when they trounced Leland 3-0 after last year's defeat in the preseason play-offs. PLAYING THE FIELD.

The Girls Varsity Soccer team had a triumphant 1986-87 season. They managed to remain undefeated for the first half of their season; possibly due to the new coaches and definitely due to the skill and hard work put in by the girls. They had what's known as a "successful year" in sport's lingo.

This year's soccer season was one of the best in years for the junior varsity girl's soccer team. With a change in coaching, the team seemed to regain that upward momentum that is the Live Oak trademark. Coach Riviera saw to it that the girls made practices, and that practices made the team. Which, of course, is not to say that the girls had nothing to do with the season's record — where would the team be without players? These girls are definite protoges for the 1987-88 Varsity team.

Time for a change - and a change there was! With new head Coach Cummings demanding 110% effort from the boys, what could they do but improve their skills and perfect that Live Oak style?! Wheaties before school, and an hour and a half of demanding practice after school makes for a team of winners. The 1986-87 baseball varsity team looks like it will have no trouble keeping up Live Oak's winning streak.

Lower left yuck a bug! What do you think you're looking at? Above what do you mean I have to move. Upper right stretch for it. Right who's got the ball?

This years Junior Varsity team shows well on the field and in the book. Not only does the school have an excellent coaching staff but a great team as well. It is apparent that this years team will follow in the footsteps of other Live Oak go getters. Practices are long and hard but will be worth the effort in the end.

"HIT 'EM HOME"

The junior varsity softball team looks good. With an all new team of sophomores and juniors and their perfect compliment second year coach Larry Nabzeska, the team expects to repeat last year's season and make a killing at C C S. The Varsity team saw a lot of girls going out for a few positions with only two pitchers. Practices will be intense but their coach is confident that C C S will be seeing both Live Oak's junior varsity and varsity softball teams in the championship.

The 1986-1987 tennis season at Live Oak has been filled with new faces and lots of new talent. At this writing, the tennis teams are beginning their season, but Mr. Bernard is confident that Live Oak will put up a good show at CCS this year. He bases his projection on the fact that he plans long, hard practices to get his team in shape.

"Badminton, huh? sounds easy enough to me!"

"Have you heard? They have two hour practices Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, and games every Tuesday and Thursday-until May!"

"I'm looking for something easy. Maybe I'll skip badminton."

"I hear the guys are wicked players and the girls singles are pretty-Sounds like they're doing pretty good for being off the Live Oak sports curriculum for 12 years."

"I think I'll look for that old badminton racquet after all"

EASING THE PAIN . . .

Athletic Trainers — how many of us have appreciated the soothing hands of one of Mr. Manning's protogees? These students of medicine of the human body, of easing the pain have been godsend to us all. They help take the pain away of an injured knee, elbow or ankle. Live Oak students have a healthy zest for sports- and as with any sport, injuries are bound to occur. So it is time we all thank Mr. Manning and his athletic trainers for all the times they have helped us to ease the pain of sport injuries.

WINNING DESPITE A LOSS

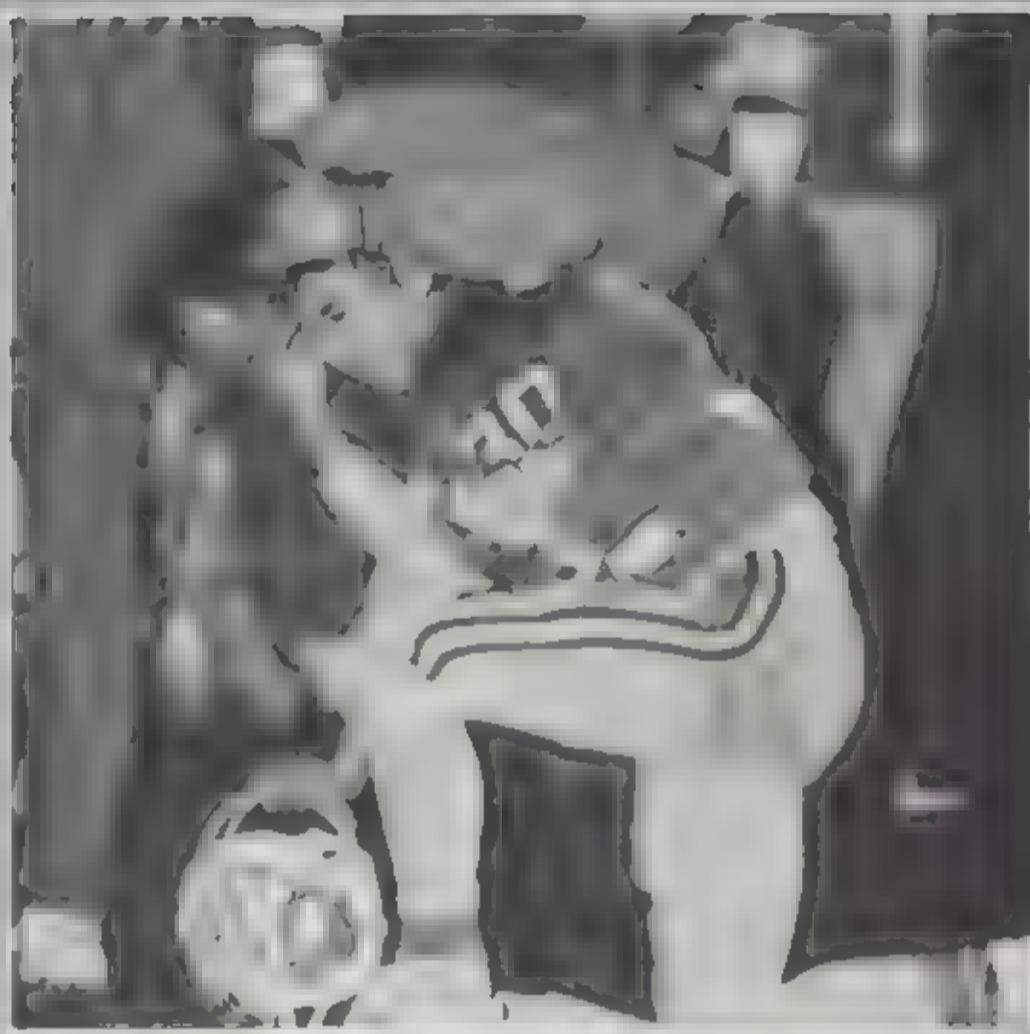

The Spartans' season started off with a loss to Willow Glen (41-13) and a tie with Los Gatos (52-52). The team then thrashed both Willow Glen (41-13) and Los Gatos (52-14) in order to go to San Jose State's Spartan Stadium showcase game. Now Somis is looking to get back on track.

With Belkamp and K. Clegg, the USC Clock has been excellent so far.

With the help of the defense, Somis has been able to keep the losses to a minimum. The defense has been great, especially with the addition of Belkamp and K. Clegg. The USC Clock has been excellent so far.

LIFE AND TIMES AT L.O. 1987

We must admit that the High School years are the best years of our life. And most likely this is not because of the teacher's lectures, cafeteria food, and the notorious pit. It's because of all our friends and the fun we've had with them.

Whether it be at the rallies, activities during lunch or at the football games friends are what make it fun. When years pass and we are all far away we will look back and remember our high school years. Faces places special moments, will all make us smile at these memories. And the times when we were at our worst when we thought we'd never pull through to the end, while all seemed so distant and far away.

For now we think of school as being a drag. Working to graduate, forcing ourselves to come to school on hot, sunny days. Through it all our friends are there to make it all worth while. Constantly they surround us helping us laugh, to cry, and to just open up and talk.

The things we remember aren't the lectures or exams or even the homework. We will remember people and faces. The faces we see during school, after school, and on week-ends. We had a special place in our hearts for them, because they're the ones who really know us. They've seen us AT our worst, and they are still there for us.

This year has been the best year to show off our spirit. Ever since our awesome football team was in CCS our spirit has grown stronger and better than before. For the Seniors it turned out to be a great year.

For the sophomores and juniors you may think it will be neons before you graduate, but take it from the Seniors it goes by pretty fast. So take advantage of the best years of your life.

When you look back on the year 1986-87 you will remember the wild fads and trends the great year we had in sports such as football, basketball and water polo. The student body did their best to make it a great year for all. They made all the activities and rallies a fun and exciting treat for everyone. Yep, 1986-87 turned out to be a great success and a lot of fun!

SPIRIT WEEK

Spirit week is a time we all the members

When the float meetings begin, so does the excitement. It's a time when everyone can take part, and share their ideas. The classes unite as everyone pulls together, and the floats progress. Through all the late nights, we strain to improve our float, and strive for perfection.

It's great to see spirit build throughout the week, when students show their enthusiasm by dressing up in crazy outfits for class distinction day. Adding to it all, we have entertainment at lunch. It's fun watching friends be silly for class points.

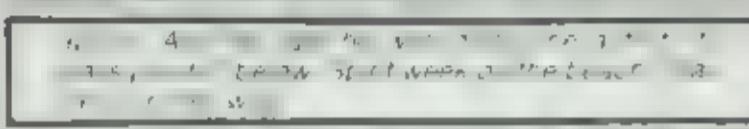

After Party, You Gotta Get This
T-shirt, We Wrote It, It's Cool
I'm Not A Cool Guy

Finally, Homecoming Day arrives. All day we are geared up for the game green and gold, posters everywhere, the rally, parade, and at last, all of our hard work pays off when we display our floats at halftime. Our players bring spirit week to a close with a bang, and a smashing Victory over the Vikings of 27 to 0

'TWAS THE NIGHT OF THE CHRISTMAS BALL

Twas the night of the Christmas ball and all through the gym every creature was stirring with a great big grin.
The snowflakes were hung to the ceiling with care with hopes that the night would be filled with good cheer.
The couples came in two-by-two and gathered together with a friend or two. They danced and danced the whole night through with hopes that the D.J. would come through. The cameras were clicking flash by flash to make this memory forever last. As the clock strikes 12 and time had passed, the couples left hand-in-hand, hoping the memories will last.

What Are Friends For?

So many times we count on our friends to make these high school years fun or at least bearable. Friends are so important to keep our sanity. The friendships we've obtained have made a uncomparable impact on our lives. Through good times and bad times we've come to realize what friendship really means. We've laughed and cried, but we've always stood by. Even if we aren't together forever we will always have great memories to look back on. This page shows what good times we did have with our best buddies. Even some bad. Friendship keeps us alive and kicking through these stressful years. We will treasure them forever.

FASHION '87

For today's Fashion everyone is taking time out to make his or her own Fashion Statement. With the variety of fashion today there is definitely a style to meet everyone's tastes. Whether it be cashmere and lace to leather and jeans, everyone has his own different moods. This was the year to express it.

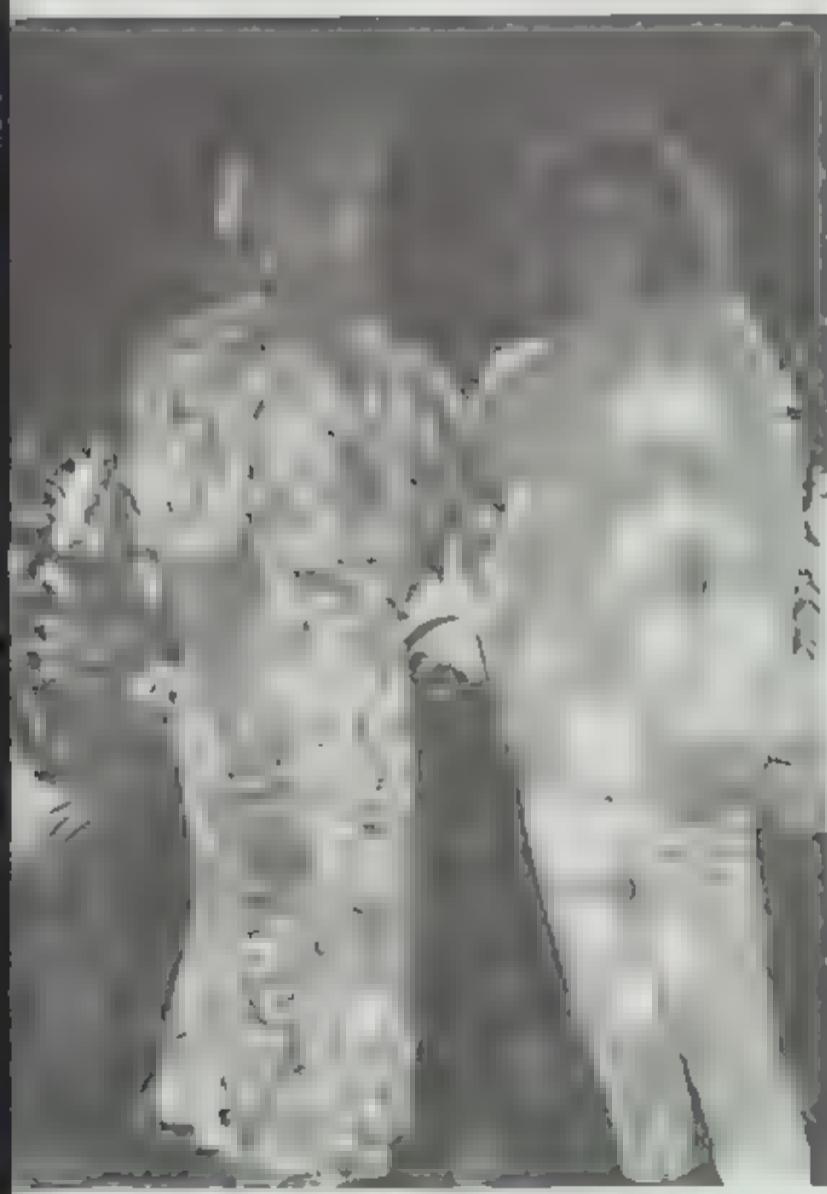

A big hit that is making it's way over our school is the western look. Stone-washed jeans, leather fringes, and a lot of silver. Even boots are back to add to that Western style.

Besides jeans, jeans, and more jeans we also had a touch of class. With the classic sweaters, skirts, and pants. This year we were moving away from punk and into more of a sporty yet classic look.

Silver and gold were making it together! And last but not least, a little more to the romantic side. With the pastels and floral print you can't miss!

This year was a great way to express ourselves. There were so many terrific styles and trends, that it was hard not to

ANDREA HARTMAN

I was born in a small town near Hannover, called Holzminden on the 2/14/69. My nature is life enjoying. I wanted to go to the United States for a year to do something different and even more interesting than the usual German school. I always do what makes me feel good I like to eat ice-cream, sew, knit, and all the other usual stuff. I tried to learn surfing and I'm still trying, but I go scared by the high waves. I like to write essays. I like movies about love and David Hamilton photos. I visited France last summer, French is the most beautiful language I know.

I enjoy being in America. I think it is different in some things, but also similar to Germany in many ways.

SABINE STEIN

Hi! My name is Sabine and I am a senior this year at Live Oak. I was born in Munich, my favorite city in Germany by the way, on the 12/31/68. You probably wonder why I came to the U.S., I wanted to do something different than the daily routine in Germany, get to know new people, their attitudes, learn about the culture, way of living etc.

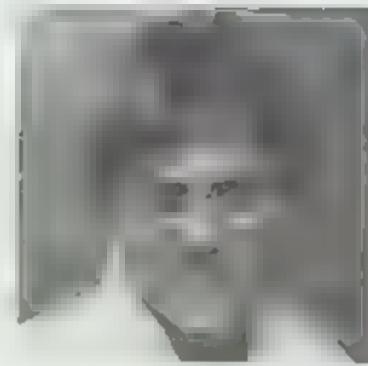

I think that America is similar to Germany, but it differs also in many ways. I enjoy living here, my favorite places are Capitola and San Francisco. I like playing tennis, traveling, going to the beach, knitting, just the usual stuff. I think it is great that the school offers so many activities; clubs sports, dances.

Now I want to thank all the friends I make for having such a great time with them and I want to thank the teachers for their time too. Bye, Bine

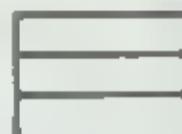

THOMAS BECKER

Hi! My name is Thomas. I came here in August 1986, and first it took me some time to realize what was going on. But later I participated in a lot of things. The people here are pretty nice and I haven't been bored during my stay. It is sunny, but I like to go to school here, probably because I don't have to pay attention to the courses I took. My major hobbies are chess, tennis, and fortunately Live Oak offers these activities. I am happy that I had the opportunity to come here and one thing is sure I will return from time to time.

YUMI MASUI

Hello, my name is Yumi. I'm from Japan. This is my second year at Live Oak. This year I took many interesting classes, also playes in the field hockey team. I really enjoyed myself. It is nice to live and learn some different languages from different countries. I am planning to graduate next year.

MARLI BUCHOLZ

My name is Marli Bucholz. I am a Junior here at Live Oak, and I enjoy a lot. I am from Brazil, this is my second year here in the U.S. I always wanted to learn English, then my aunt invited me to stay with her in Morgan Hill, and I took the opportunity. Now, I have gotten to know much more than just the language, because we have traveled to many places, and seen a lot about American culture. I got to know many students also from other countries, they are all very friendly. I like Live Oak and I am very thankful for all the help the teachers and students have given me.

BASMA & NADUA ARAR

Hi! We are Basma and Nadua. We are Seniors here at Live Oak and we enjoy it a lot. We came here for one year to learn the English language. We are from Germany with an Arabic descent, so therefore we speak both German and Arabic. Now we learned a lot of English and we learned a lot about the American culture too. And we like it here. We got a lot of friends. We are very, very thankful for the help all teachers and students gave us.

Thanks again

ALL ON A PAGE

The 1986-87 school year was a year of change. Policy changes that had been mere ideas in the past suddenly became dimensions of real life at Live Oak High School. Changes such as the seventh period, new tardy and attendance policies, shorter passing period, additional teachers, new portables, and the loss of the smoking section have made enormous impacts on this school year. Though some changes were engineered from the state level, some were site or district changes. Not all the changes were successful.

Overall, the Live Oak student body has been very spirited and did an excellent job adjusting to all the changes encountered. There were some rough times when shaky tardy and attendance policies made life a little more difficult. There was also some tension displayed during lunch break. The seventh period day and the many changes may possibly have been the cause.

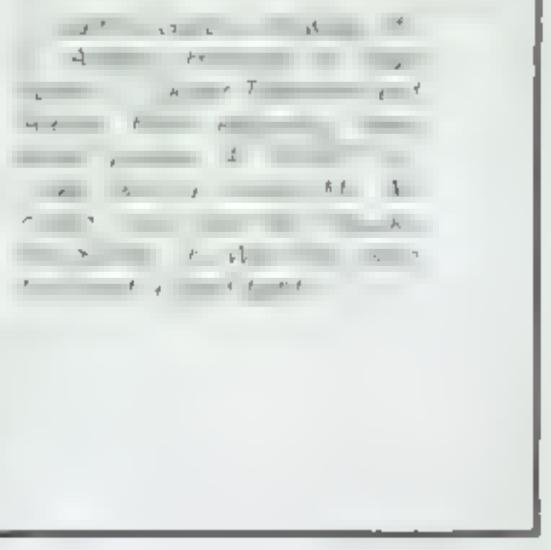

Although there were problems, there is no reason to feel that this year was not a huge success. Our athletes were more successful than ever. We were highly successful in the Academic Decathlon and our SAT scores went up so we are now fifth in the county. There has also been more advanced placement courses offered than ever.

The 1986-87 year was made a huge success by the student body and staff despite the many adjustments that were needed. For the seniors leaving, this was definitely a fulfilling year to be proud of.

Your life is just beginning
Graduation is here!!
College shouldn't be intimidating
you really have nothing to fear
Football, wrestling or studying
The future's bright, we surely can say,
But take time out now and again
Because tomorrow's a brand new day!
Love, Your Family

We've come to the end of another yearbook (Here's the plug for the supplement I hope you bought yours). The long, arduous struggle to achieve unity of theme, context, and motif while presenting a product that is different from the previous year's is finally complete. Frankly, I felt some brief moments of doubt that we would ever finish. This year's struggle to completion was fraught with surprises all along the way. It is customary for the advisor to offer his or her sagacious insights gleaned from a year's journey through a school year with adolescents. Hmmmm.

You don't want to hear the litany of horror stories, disappointments, frustrations, angry moments, broken promises, and missed deadlines that is a yearbook's masquerading as journalism. The chant would begin with the trivial and end moaningly with the near-cataclysmic. The Book of Revelations may provide comparable literary and prophetic value while its more sanguine reading, you may even prefer The Gilgamesh Epic. Some have fought the good fight, kept the faith, finished the course. These are the people who deserve the undying gratitude of a student body that expects, no, demands its yearbook on the appointed day.

The book doesn't just arrive. La Encina is the product of the cliched blood, sweat, tears. La Encina is the result of long hours missed classes, sleepless nights, cold pizza and warm Pepsi at seven o'clock in Rm. 906. It is the distillation of dedication assumed by a small coterie of strangely obsessed fanatics known as the La Encina staff. I wish to share the proud accomplishments of a group of people who achieved the near-impossible.

Thanks to Suzie and Sandy (or is that Sandie and Suzy?) who assumed the thankless and pressure-packed responsibility of Co-Editors-in-Chief. They discovered too late how crazy they were. I'm not sure what would have happened if Kellie had not sworn allegiance to our band of desperadoes. She almost single-handedly revised, corrected and created the Sports Section after the disaster of first semester's failed deadlines! The staff and I are indebted to Jeanenne, Missy, and Isabel for selling ads like crazy. Good luck to Isabel at The Oak Leaf next year. Missy and Jeanenne will form the partnership for La Encina 1986, the continuity to continue tradition. To editor Traci M. thanks for your devotion despite broken cars. Kris' thanks for all your work on the seniors. Laura's writing and contribution to classes will live on in La Encina 1987 as will Jill's typing and organization skills. Mandy, Donna, Tracy D. masterminded the senior farewells and the booksales and the supplement sales and publicity and so on. Troy and Tony created a senior index exploring entire new worlds of computer data collection. Ah, what cybernetic worlds of wonder.

At the risk of offending Brian, Andy, Traci B, Sarah, Lisa, Delta, Tania, Danielle, Susan, Alma, Nadine, Bine, Stacey I'm going to call a halt to these kudos. Thank you all for hanging in there.

Finally none of this would have been possible without the help of Josten's Rep. Les Peterson. He is a prince trapped in the body of a former golfer. Les truly helped get the book out. Marilyn Mitchell in Josten's Visalia plant deserves a mention, too. We all thank Chris Johnson for his photo skills, photo help and advice. Wow what a let Finally this hectic year would not have been survivable without the support, aid, comfort and attaboys of Live Oak's inimitable staff! Our students sometimes forget how fortunate they are to be guided by such tolerant, knowledgeable and humane instructors: Graciomatos.

Aaron Spain

Well here we are eating Doritos and wondering what to say. No really being the editors of the 1986-87 La Encina Yearbook has been an experience we will never forget. Aaron wasn't joking when he said it was too late when we discovered what a crazy decision we had made. Taking on the responsibility of finishing an entire yearbook seemed to be a goal way out of reach. But when the first deadline was suddenly two weeks away we realized we had made a decision and it was our responsibility to get the job done.

We have to be truthful being co-editors was the most difficult task we had yet to achieve. We knew that the job was going to take a lot of our free time but we did not realize that we would be stuck at Live Oak in the infamous room '906 - until 11:30 when the editors kicked us out.

One of the hardest things we had to do was yell at our peers for missing deadlines. Our staff did not at first want to think of us as any type of authority. Getting the staff organized took about three weeks and cannot be classified as anything less than chaos. After our initial road blocks, things finally began to fall in place.

We wish to give our most sincere thanks to Kellie McMahon for coming in and taking over control of the entire sports section which had a record of zero pages turned in for the first three deadlines. Kellie really got the section back on its feet and we owe her a great deal. We want to also thank Laura, Jill, and Isabel for finishing the underclassmen section on time and Laura again for helping Kellie when things were really rough. Tracy Mattson did a wonderful job pictures. We also thank Kristi Weston for helping complete the senior section, and all the people who helped sell 13 pages of ads that kept our book out of the red. Many thanks to Troy and Tony for finishing the Senior index in such short notice.

Even with our helpful staff we never would have survived all the pressure without our cheerful advisor Aaron Spain. He always came to our rescue when it was our last day before a deadline and we were afraid we wouldn't be done on time. He would say, "Okay calm down. It won't hurt us too much if you turn them in on Monday." Well we knew deep down that he was really saying, "If they do this to me again we're dead." But we survived, and now the book is done. The only pressure we have left on us now is whether our book satisfies the student body. This is the over all goal. We wish to achieve and the one we have worried about the most.

We hope Les forgives us if we got him into any trouble by asking him to push for deadline extensions. He was a great help and was very understanding when we turned up short on pages. We also want to thank Chris Johnson for taking such great pictures and the remaining Jostens people for standing behind us.

There are a few things we want to tell Jeanenne or Missy, next years editor. The most important is start right away. Please don't wait three weeks and think you have all the time in the world. Make sure you get your staff organized as soon as possible because We set out to make our senior year something special. We wanted to have a purpose other than an academic one. We wanted to be involved in our senior year and we feel that we have accomplished this goal. A lot of hours and dedication went into the 1986-87 La Encina. We were not prepared for the heavy pressure but we did realize it was going to be filled with hard work.

the editors has made a lasting impression on us and has made us better people. Our senior year was definitely a success; we hope that everyone enjoys the results of our efforts. We want to wish all of the graduating seniors the best of luck in life.

Suzie and Sandy

COLOPHON

The 1986-87 La Encina, volume seventy-nine, copyrighted by Live Oak High School, was printed by Jostens American Yearbook Company.

Our standard body-copy was 11 point in size and was printed in Avant Garde. Caption copy was 9 point in Helvetica Italic. The headlines were normal Helvetica and were in 42 pt. The folios were also 11 pt but the style was Korinna Bold.

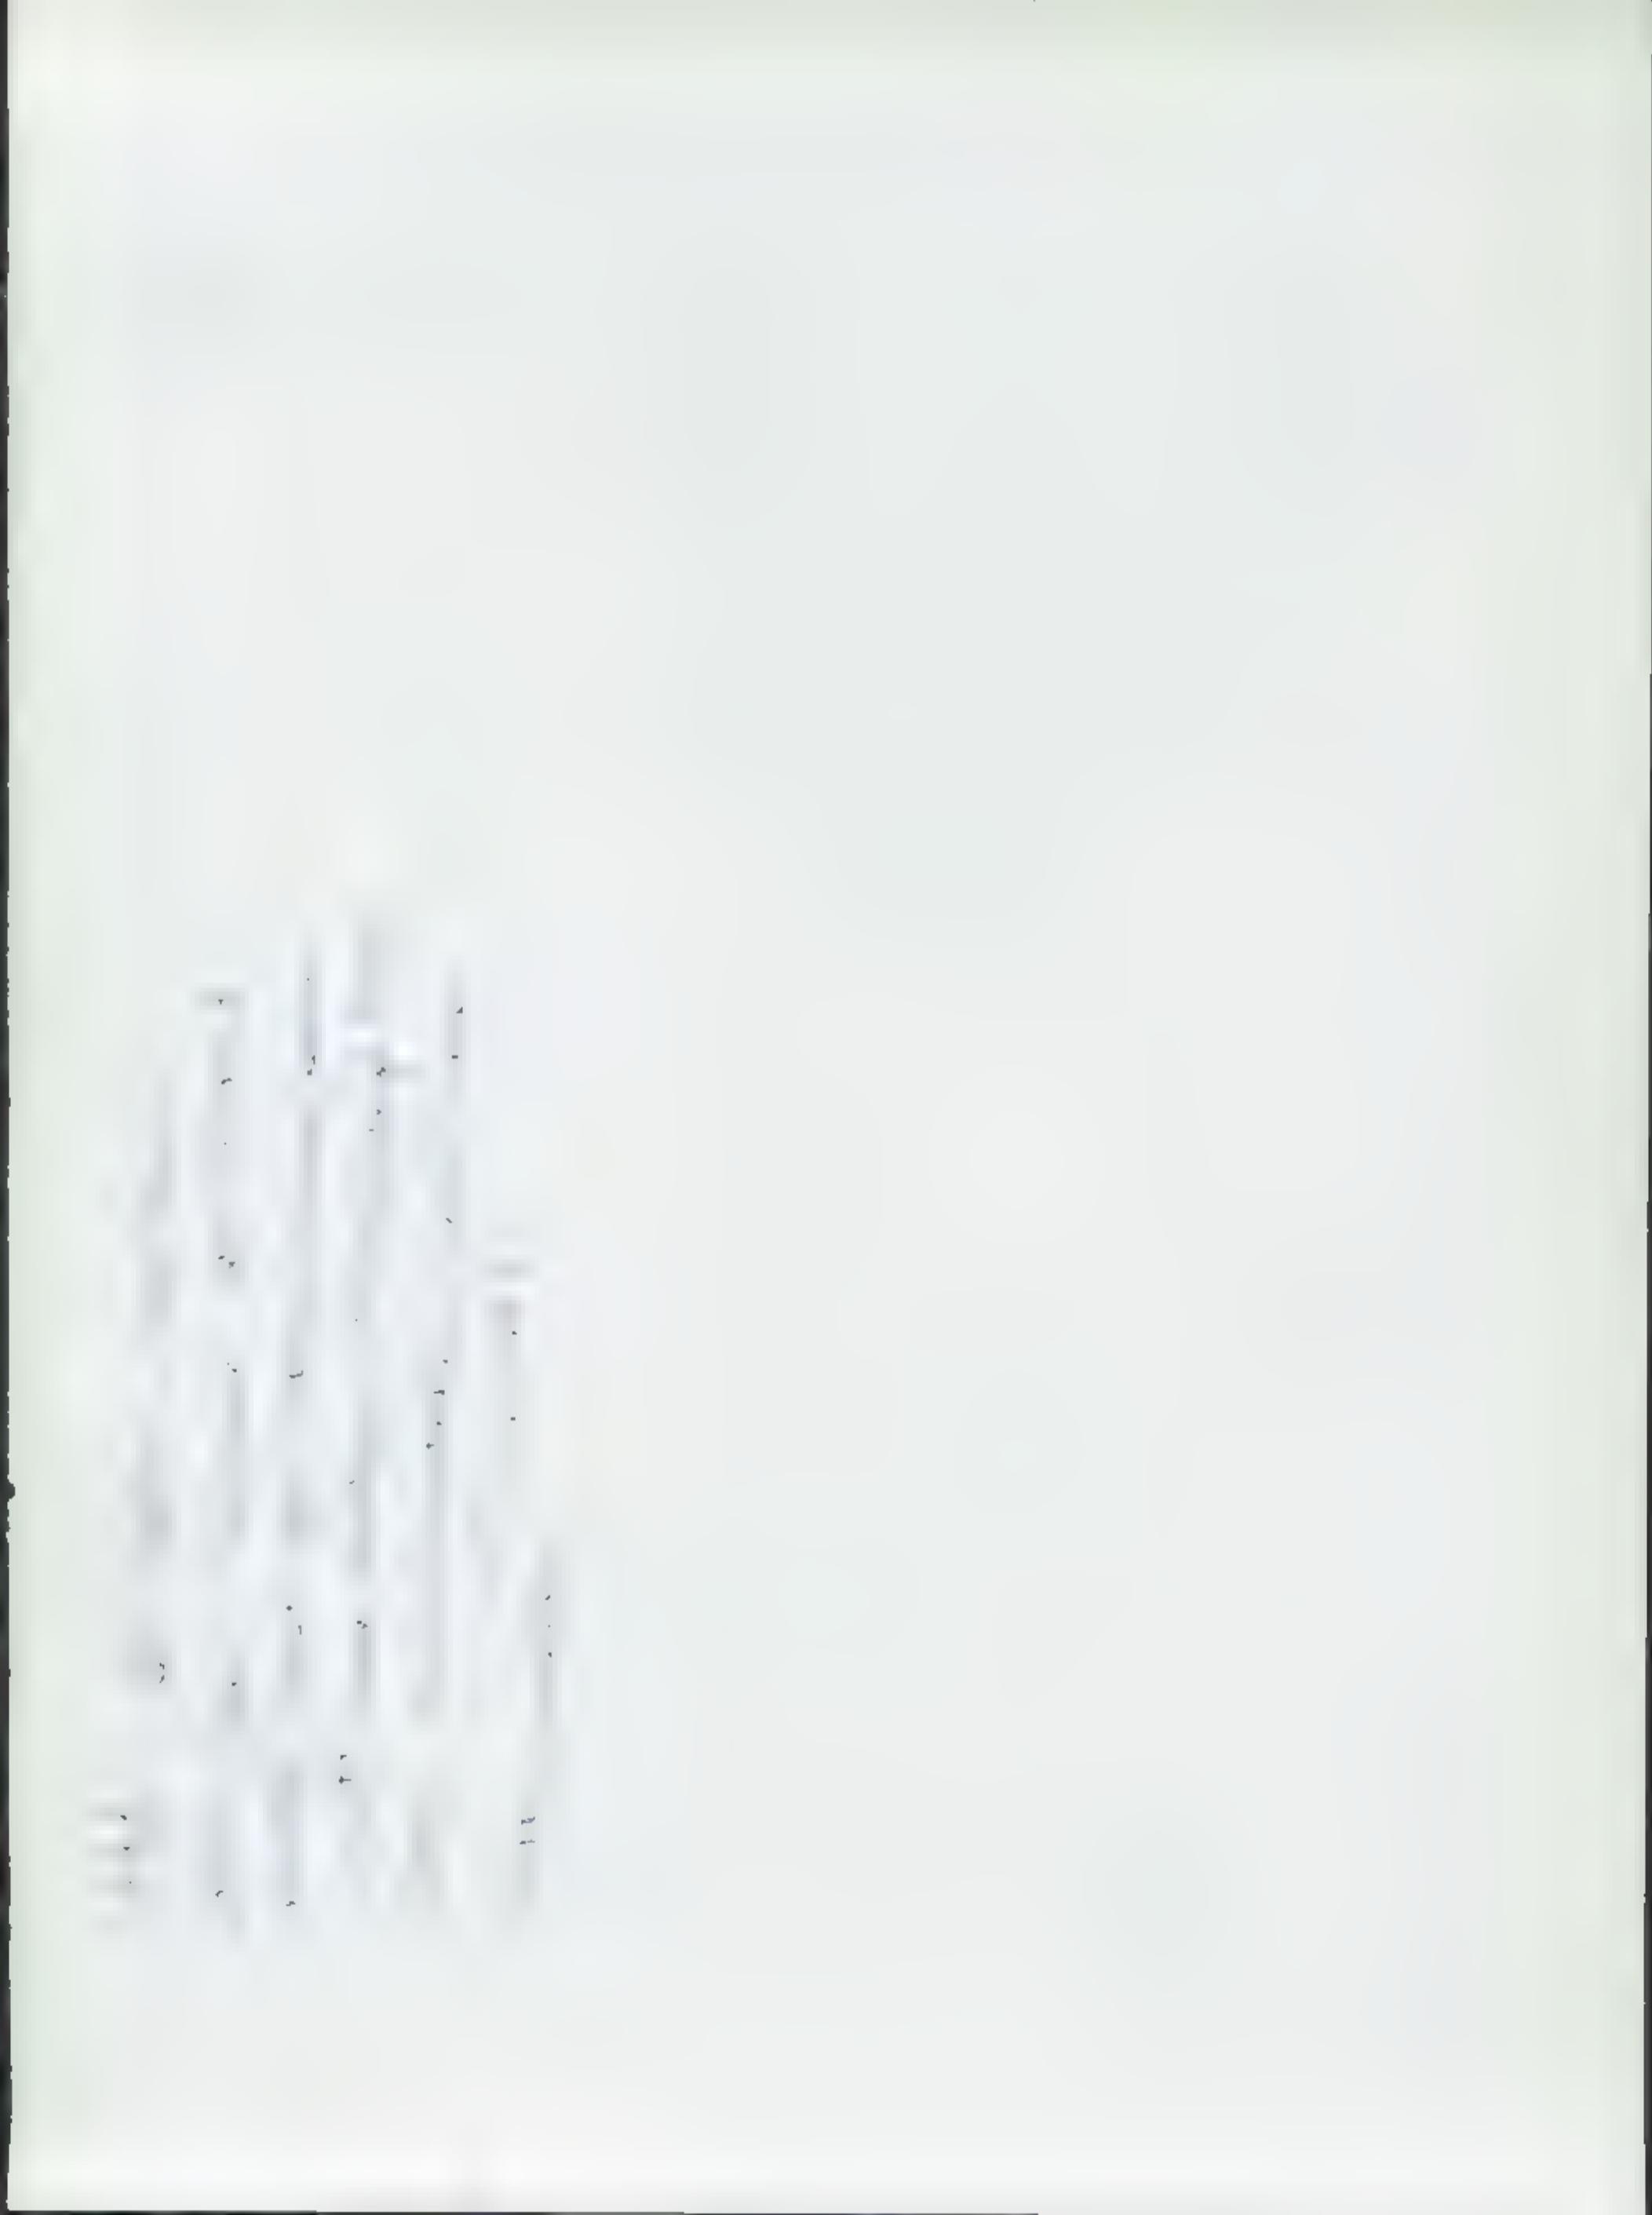

A total of 1,300 books were printed. The paper throughout the book is Karisma Gloss 80 and 40 pound stock. The colors used were process and mixed. They are as follows on the first sixteen pages:

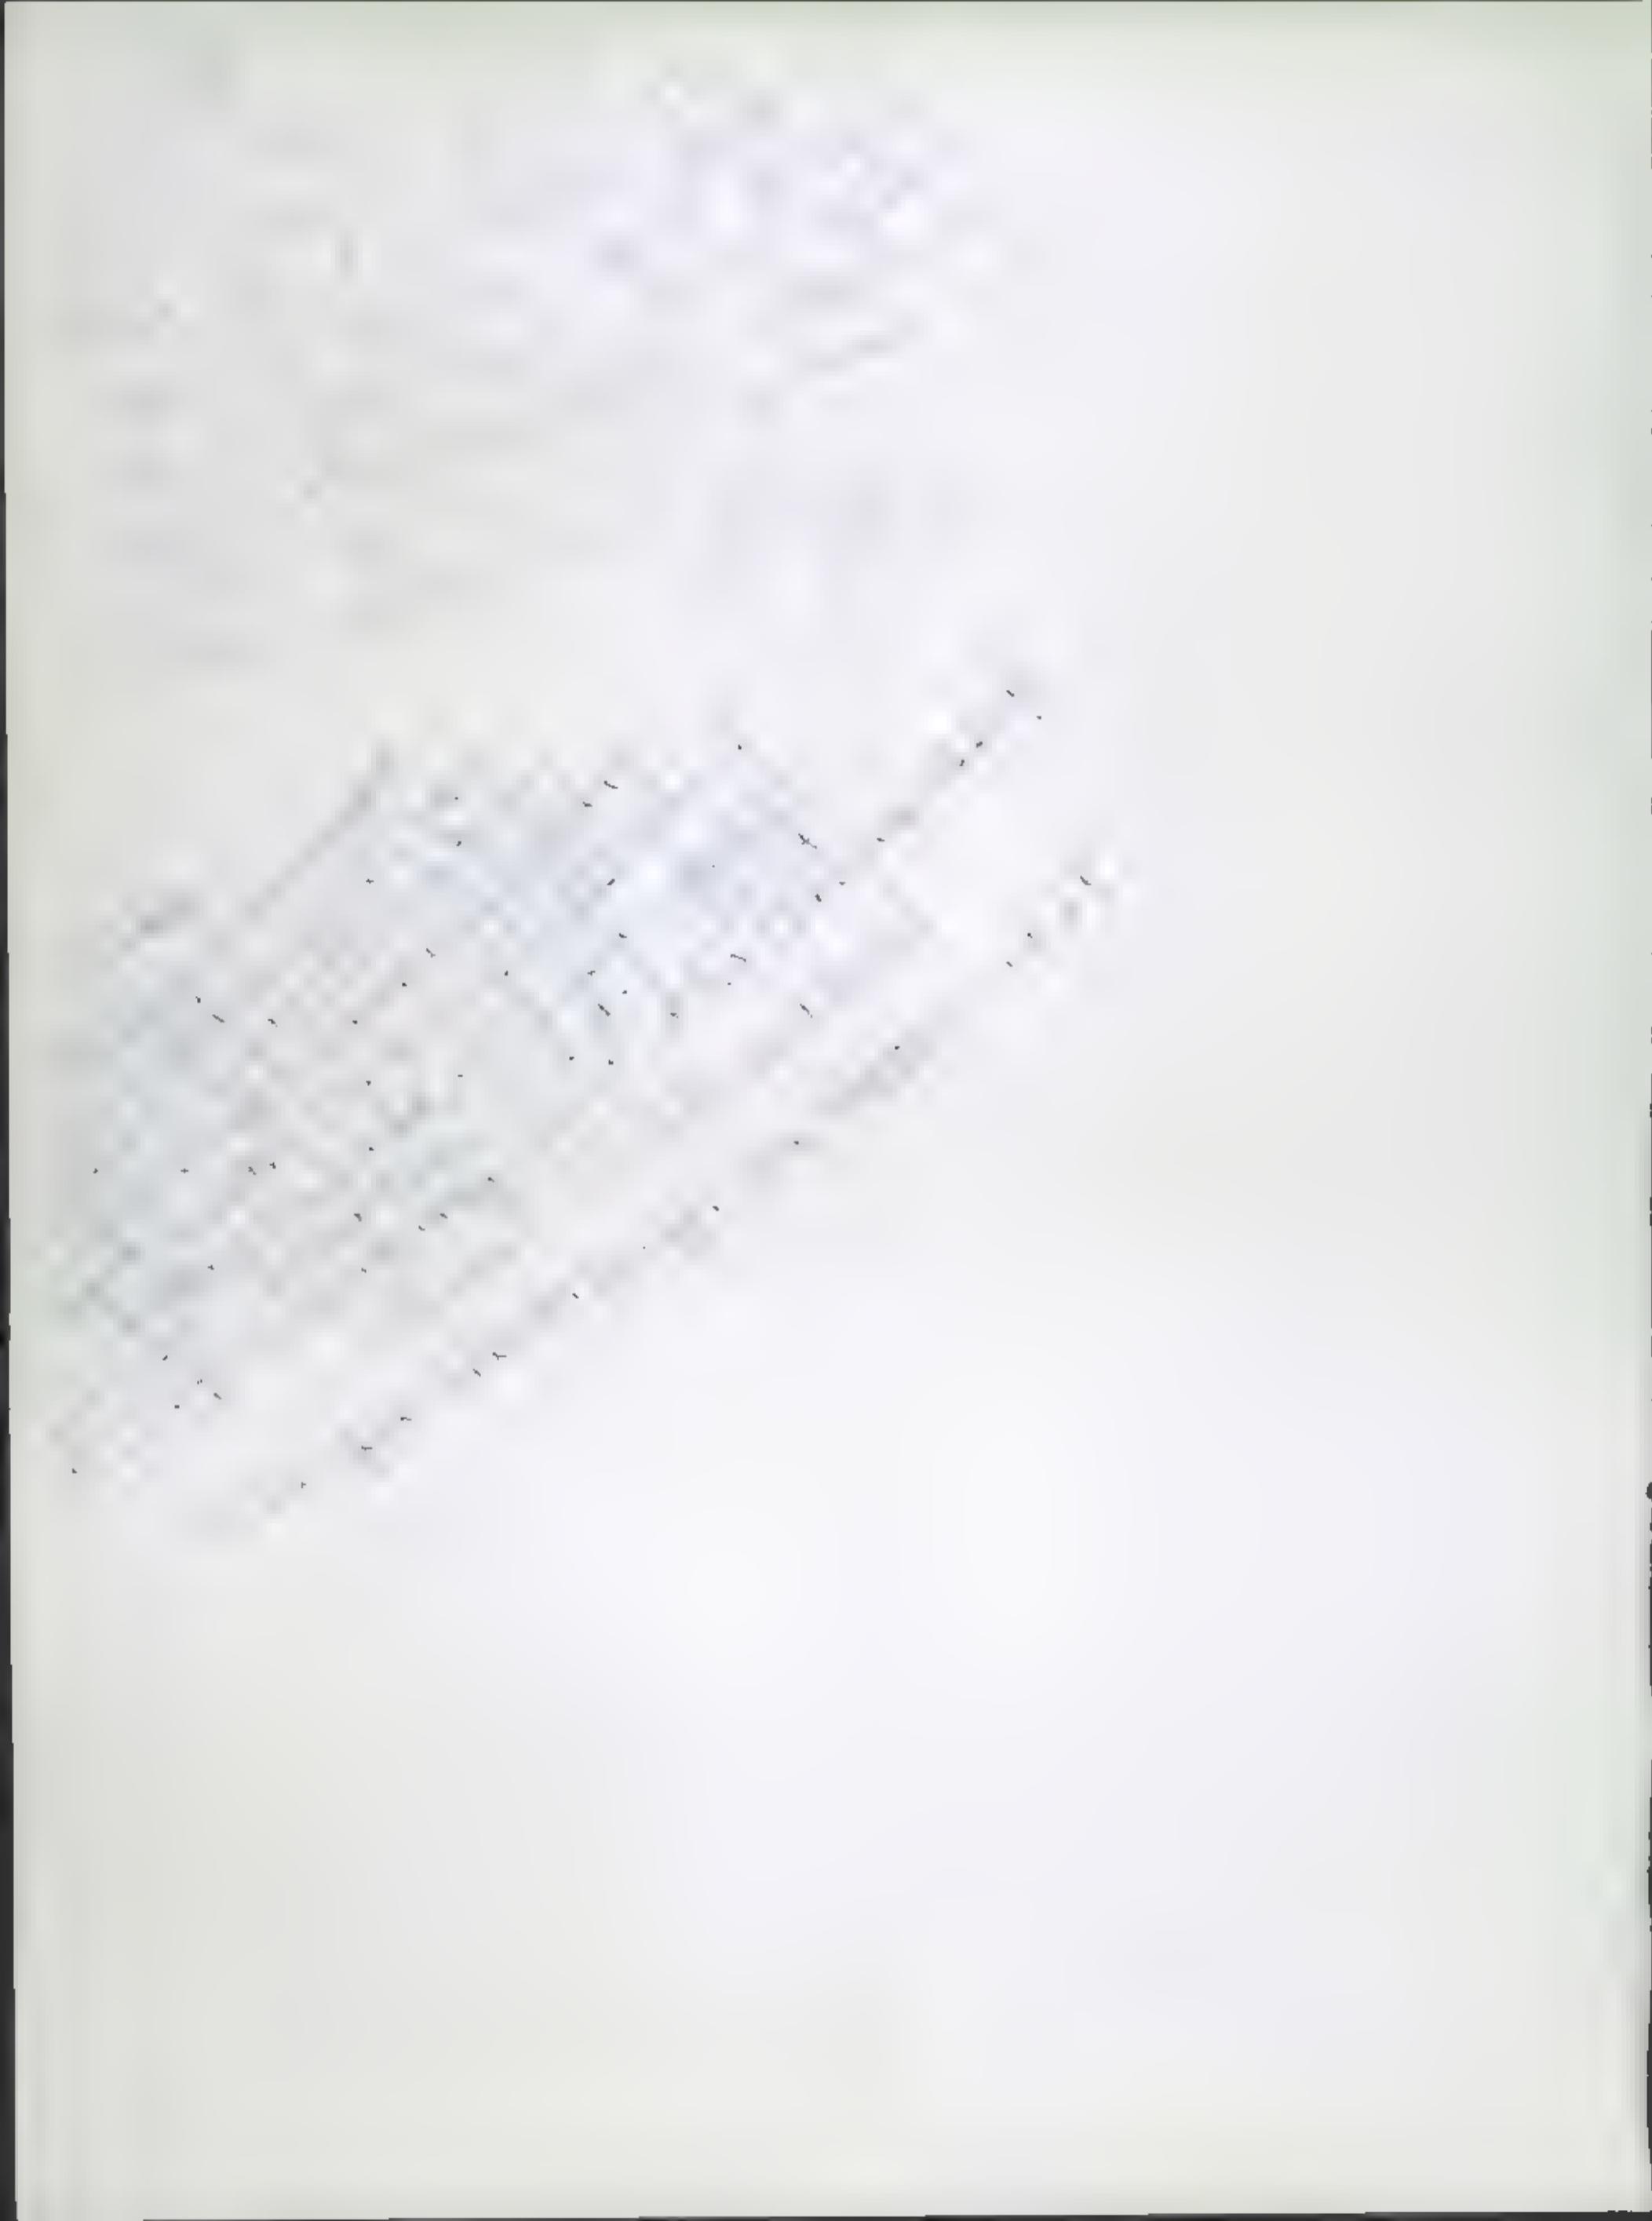

All black and white photos were taken with 35mm Ilford XP-1 400. The color photos were taken with 35 mm photo - Color 400. The covers texture is sundance and the colors are Pearl 528 and Blue 350. The insheets are Light Beige 285 and Cyan 700.
